

It's spring – time for new beginnings...

Spring has well and truly sprung and flowers are bursting out all over, which augured well for the annual Spring Garden Festival. Although the crowd was a little less than expected, it was a wonderful day to be out and about and planning for the garden. Talunga Park was looking beautiful, despite the lack of proper rain, and the new trees are well on their way (despite one being run over by workmen!). Have you purchased your tree, yet! Plans are afoot to improve the Talunga Park area, and this includes careful plantings of appropriate trees. The species selected are more appropriate for the area, will provide much needed shade during summer, and will give us a brilliant display through autumn. Something we have grown used to seeing in other towns closer to Adelaide. Next month will also see the Springton Fair, another event not to be missed. We celebrated the centenary of the Balhannah – Mt Pleasant branchline on the 16th, and John Bowd unveiled yet another corrugated masterpiece.

Council elections are taking place, and those eligible will be able to do that from the end of October. Nominations have closed and I am pleased to say we have two nominations from our area, including Don Barrett – secretary of the Men's Shed, member of the RSL, JP, school bus driver and many other things, as well as being my husband. Mt Pleasant needs representation on The Barossa Council, and I urge you to not throw away the voting form, and make your vote count for our district. Don will be doorknocking, on social media and generally getting out and about, so make yourself known to him, and tell him what you'd like.

Council news

Council is encouraging people to nominate local community heroes for the 2019 Citizen of the Year Australia Day Awards.

If you know someone who makes the community a better place, or is a tireless contributor, always willing to lend a hand then you should consider nominating them for an award.

Council is now seeking nominations for worthy recipients in the following categories:

Citizen of the Year

Young Citizen of the Year

Community Event of the Year, and:

Community Project of the Year

The Citizen of the Year Australia Day Awards recognise individuals and organisations that have made a noteworthy contribution during the current year, and/or given an outstanding service over a number of years, to a local community over and above normal employment duties.

Outstanding contribution and community service includes areas such as education, health, fundraising, charitable and voluntary services, business, sport, arts, the environment, or any other area that contributes to the advancement and well-being of a community.

Council acknowledges that one of the strengths of the Barossa community is the attitude and commitment of people who are always willing to lend a hand and help out when required. The Barossa region is built on the foundation that 'it's not about what you give as an individual but about what's best for the community and the rewards the community reaps as a result of others working together'.

Nomination forms can be downloaded via www.barossa.sa.gov.au or hard copies are available from the Nuriootpa Council office and branch offices and emailed to barossa@barossa.sa.gov.au or sent to PO Box 867, Nuriootpa SA 5355.

You may also submit nominations for The Barossa Council directly to the Australia Day Citizen of the Year Awards website.

Nominations open 1 October 2018 and must be received by 5pm Friday, 16 November 2018.

The Awards will be presented by the Mayor at the 2018 Australia Day Breakfast, on Saturday, 26 January 2018.

Drive my Future

The launch of Drive My Future is set to give learner drivers increased confidence and time behind the wheel.

The Youth Barossa project in collaboration with The Barossa Council and sponsors supports young Barossa people aged 16 to 25 facing disadvantage.

The in-car support program matches experienced volunteer drivers with learner drivers to boost their driving hours and experience.

Drive My Future Coordinator Kathy Schilling said independent surveys show many young people are struggling to achieve the hours needed for their P plate licence.

"Barriers include single parent working families, availability of a suitable car, young people who are primary or secondary carers or have a sibling with a disability, or who may be living independently," said Kathy.

She said the program gives them access to a volunteer and a vehicle.

"It's not a replacement of a Learner Driver system; the volunteers act as a parent or care giver who would assist the learner driver gain the hours needed for their P plate licence," Kathy said.

"The program is based on a simple idea, yet it can make a world of difference in someone's life."

Mayor Bob Sloane commended the program, saying it will have many positive flow-on effects.

"In many cases it will assist young people to gain independence or employment, participate in sport and access training opportunities," he said.

"The role of the volunteer driving supervisor is equally important and an opportunity to play a positive, caring role in the life of a disadvantaged young person."

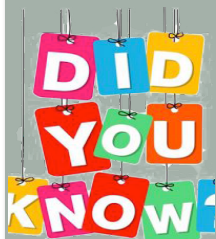

Kathy said the program was only possible because of the collaborative effort of sponsors.

"We acknowledge the generosity of many organisations, businesses and community who have laid the foundation for a sustainable, long-term program that will put young people on the road to independence," she said.

Bookings will open in October at a cost of $16.50 per hourly session. Eligible participants are required to participate in a road safety forum and interview, and are also offered a free car maintenance session.

For information on Drive My Future contact 0448020 303.

Bought your tree, yet?

Have you bought your tree, yet? The Talunga Park beautification is now underway, and we should see a huge improvement in the aesthetics of the area over the next few years. Please contact Genevieve Hebart if you'd like to be a part of this great project: secretary@mountpleasant.sa.au

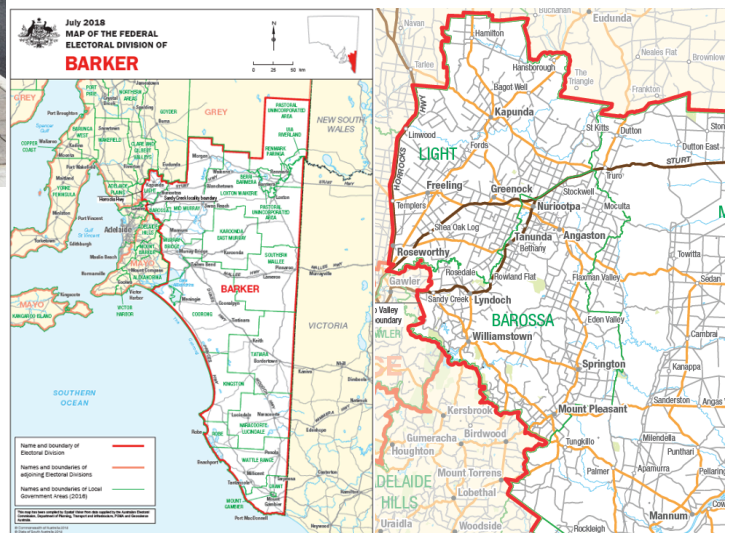

The ABC has been rich fodder this week – whether for the antics over management and alleged government involvement, or the ever-reliable Barrie Cassidy's take during Insiders, or just some of the listeners who have rung ABC talkback.

Heard on David Bevan's programme this week: A bloke from Echunga called in and said his mate had started work as a bus boy in a bar, and finally worked his way up to manager. He was a smart man, and as soon as he got a whiff of a takeover, always demoted himself. He knows that as soon as new people come in, the old managers go out. How many times do we see this? Saw it when the state government changed hands, and we see it now in federal government. Is this productive? I guess getting rid of people who have opposing views is seen as necessary, I saw it in my last job. Sometimes it seems to work, but people need to dig deeper. Taking things at face value can result in nasty surprises later on when the true impact is made known. It appears that Michelle Guthrie – recently fired as Managing Director of (OUR) ABC – refused to get rid of ABC journalist Emma Alberici, who had written an opinion piece criticising our current prime minister's trickle down economics platform, and Andrew Probyn, who had also attracted the ire of the coalition. And now Justin Milne has stepped down from his post as Chair of the ABC Board, highlighting the fact that all of the last nominees for positions on the board were in some way connected to the government. Removing dissent is one way to make sure yours is the only voice heard – the only opinion listened to. Some people are even questioning whether we have a democracy any more.

Laura Tingle's Quarterly Essay makes for interesting reading: quarterlyessay.com.au

Did you know that our federal boundaries will change for the next election and we will be in the Barker electorate – not Mayo? The current member is Tony Pasin (Liberal). In state politics, Stephan Knoll Minister for Transport, etc has been given a grilling over the tram opening, but has managed to answer his critics with grace.

wicking beds with a do it yourself demonstration on the ease of making these particular type of garden beds. The festival children weren't forgotten with a special workshop on the art of making floral cupcakes.

Stallholders were extremely satisfied with the day with both the festival & farmers market stallholders recording well above average sales. The combination of the weather, exceptionally broad variety of plant and garden wares, informative guest speakers, the charming venue, the diverse range of stallholders, workshops, food and entertainment saw the township of Mount Pleasant come alive for the day.

The SA Spring Garden Festival will be held next year September 21, 2019.

A perfect spring morning greeted early arrivals to the third SA Spring Garden Festival held in Mount Pleasant last Saturday. The sunshine was the extreme opposite to the previous Saturday's weather, and organisers were ecstatic with the turnaround in temperature.

The spring sunshine brought crowds from all over South Australia out in their droves, to experience the exceptionally diverse variety of plant and garden wares the festival had to offer, along with the special programmed events for the day, and our award winning farmers market.

Crowd favourite & guest speaker Sophie Thomson did not disappoint her large audience, which overflowed the festival marquee, with Spring Festival goers jostling for the best positions to hear the inspirational gardener speak. Following Sophie, the highly entertaining Dorinda Hafner gave special commentary whilst Yuandamarra Keily from Red Centre Enterprises, produced some delicious bush tucker meals, the banter between the two had the crowd in fits of laughter. Festival goers also took advantage of the opportunity to engage with presenters and chat about subjects raised during their presentations.

Crowds were also given opportunity to learn about sustainable

Men's Shedding

As per usual, lots happened in the Shed last month. We had a visit from 'The Shed Men' where we shared a barby and swapped tall tales and true. (The Shed Men is a group of blokes who came together originally through the Lutheran Church.) We again organised the parking and put on a barby for the Spring garden Festival – and luckily the weather was a lot kinder this year! Murray, Don and John again worked with the Year 7 students from the Primary School and we joined the Kersbrook mob in their community shed with representatives from the Dept of Veteran's Affairs for Men's Mental Health day.

COCKTAILS & CARRIAGES

Those magnificent men of the MPMS have succeeded once again with the rebirth of a train arriving at the Wisteria Atrium at Talunga Park on 16th September, the centenary of the first revenue train to Mount Pleasant. The train arrived complete with smoking stack and bellowing whistle. Once again John Bowd instigated the construction but many other members chipped into the project providing authenticity to the final engine, with George Harrison OBE adding Mechanical Officionado to his list of many accomplishments. Many of the community helped celebrate this milestone with an enjoyable cocktail party with the MPDHRG members providing eats and drinks aplenty. Ross Hurley, expert on the history of the Mount Pleasant-Balhannah branchline, spoke of the history and presented a photographic record together with footage of the last historical train journey in March 1963. Paul Johnson, model maker extraordinaire together with John Bowd who assisted in the construction, unveiled the scaled model of the Mount Pleasant railway yards, which now has its home within the Atrium on a permanent basis. This MPMS project was supported by the community with donations towards the cost of materials and Paul's expertise as a model maker has created a professional record of what Talunga Park Recreation Park once was in 1963, together with the houses and buildings of the time.

Railway Centenary

Balhannah to Mt Pleasant

Discussions began during the 1850s regarding a railway route to the River Murray from Adelaide, with a meeting held at Mount Pleasant at the McBeath Inn (which was also known as the Mount Pleasant Inn, the fore-runner of the current Mount Pleasant Hotel, although placed across the river from its position today) in 1858. Over the years there were various meetings held in the regions to discuss just which route the railway should take, with consideration for a rail through Gawler, Mount Crawford and even Gumeracha, Birdwood. At the History Room I have compiled a brief history of the development of the discussions, which is available for anyone wanting a little more detail. A search on Trove in the newspapers also enlarges the story.

Finally an Act of Parliament in 1914 declared the construction of the Balhannah to Mount Pleasant Railway would go ahead. From newspaper articles however, one wonders about the viability of the service from the beginning, and it is no wonder that the railway service lasted only the 40 odd years that it did... a newspaper report of the opening commented...

... The service over the new railway will be limited to one train each way daily, and as the trains will be mixed the journey will occupy two hours. This means that the trip from Adelaide to Mount Pleasant, only 49 1/2 miles, will take 3 hours and 40 minutes. The up journey will require even more patience, as the train which will leave Mount Pleasant at 3 o'clock in the afternoon will not reach Adelaide until 6 52. Such tedious travelling will certainly not have the effect of inducing people to make use of the train more often than is compulsory. Previously, when new railways have been formally opened, the school children of the districts interested have been given a free ride over the line, but on this occasion the Government are not going to go even to that slight expense...

Paul Kelly – maker of ‘big things’

Paul Kelly is a local – and an artist – but he is best known for being the first person in Australia to make a ‘big thing’. His first project was the iconic Scotsman, playing the bagpipes on the front of Scotty’s Motel, on the corner of Nottage Terrace and Main North Road, Medindie. Scotty stands five metres tall and was officially unveiled in early 1963. (This was at least a year before the Big Banana in Coffs Harbour, which is often cited as the first in Australia.) “People said you couldn’t do it and that’s what bugged me ... I had to prove them wrong,” he said. “People thought I was mad and I thought ‘Oh, no, bugger it all, I’ll do it. I took up the challenge and it worked”.

“I was working with a bloke, so every morning I’d go in and measure his foot or his hands or his arm or something, multiply it by whatever the fraction was it had to be bigger,” Mr Kelly recalled. “It was very easy.”

The Scotsman was made with a solid steel frame, which was covered in wire netting and clad in hessian. It was then sprayed with a polyurethane foam and coated with a fibreglass mesh to prevent it from disintegrating and, finally, it was painted, and then shaped with a knife. The sculpture was built in three main pieces – legs, torso and head.

Scotty must have caught the eye of Ian Backler, who was looking to create something eye catching for a tourism centre at Kingston SE, and in 1979, Larry was created.

The project took six months “from start to finish”. Mr Kelly based his designs on a lobster he had brought to him. “I measured it and we did the drawings for it – and we ate the crayfish,” he said. A lot of people said that it must have been meant to be smaller, but Ian and Paul were adamant that it was the right size. Sadly, all didn’t go well afterwards, as Paul and his wife Pam sued Ian for money they said was owed to them. Unfortunately, it didn’t go well for them and they were bankrupted. Even though it didn’t end well for him, Paul is very proud of his works as they are still standing over 50 years later.

Larry was on the market a short while ago – not for the first time – and Kingston pastoralist Tom Brinkworth recently struck a deal with the owners after his wife mentioned rumours Larry had been sold to a party intending to move it to Western Australia.

Mr Brinkworth has stated that the lobster would stay in place for future generations to enjoy.

Pam says she has offered the plans to Mr Brinkworth, but is yet to hear from him.

Pete's Poem

Boots!

I own a pair of lace up boots,
I wear them all the time,
My wife won't have them in the house,
But I think they're sublime.

When working in the garden,
They've got just what it takes,
They keep out grass seeds, mud and stones,
And scare away the snakes.

I HAD a set of elastic sides,
I used to wear a lot,
They were good – No laces see
When I had lost the plot.

But the Lace-ups have to obey house rules,
They have to sleep outside,
Or else I'll have to choose between
Them and my loving Bride!

I do get even, late at night,
When " Goodnights " have been said,
I sneak out, scoop my lace-ups up,
And tuck them under the bed !

THOUGHT ABOUT VOLUNTEERING?

How do I join?

Before you are able to join, you must agree to a Confidential National Police History Check that is conducted by the South Australian Fire and Emergency Services Commission (SAFECOM). Once the Confidential National Police History Check has been undertaken you will receive a letter from the Chief Officer to tell you if you are able to apply to your local brigade or if your application has been rejected. If you are able to apply, you then need to present the letter to the Brigade Captain or Brigade Administration Coordinator. If you are accepted, you will be on probation for six (6) months. If you join as a firefighter, during this time you must successfully complete the Brigade Fire Fighter 1 training.

What can I do to help?

CFS offers many opportunities to contribute according to your skills, interests and availability. There are three (3) categories of membership that you may be able to apply for:

FIREFIGHTER

Firefighters are trained to deal with all kinds of emergencies:

- Bush and grass fires
- Structural fires
- Storm damage and floods
- Motor vehicle crashes
- Hazardous chemical spills
- industrial accidents
- Operational Support

OPERATIONAL SUPPORT

Operational Support members provide a range of valuable operations support services such as:

- Radio operations
- Logistics
- Catering
- Administration
- Cadets

CADET PROGRAM

If you are between 11 and 18 years old you can join the CFS as a cadet. As a cadet you will be trained by qualified and experienced volunteers in:

- Firefighting skills
- Using fire hydrants and hoses
- Using ladders
- Using fire extinguishers
- Map reading
- Basic first aid

Do I have to provide my own uniform?

No, all Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and Personal Protective Clothes (PPC) such as overalls, boots, gloves and helmets are provided.

How often will I have to train?

Training is usually held once a week for most brigades. Some brigades train fortnightly or monthly, depending on local needs. Phone 1300 364 587 or visit here to find out when your closest brigade trains.

How much will it cost me?

CFS has a commitment to its volunteers that no out of pocket expenses should be incurred as a result of undertaking a volunteer role. The CFS provides for all training, Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and Personal Protective Clothing (PPC) you need to do the job.

How much time do I have to commit?

CFS recognises and values the contribution of its volunteers, including the time that is given. Apart from meeting the minimum requirements for training and skills maintenance, how much time you can offer can be negotiated with your Brigade Captain.

OFF THE COUCH

A delightful, bright spring afternoon was on hand on September 9th to herald the opening of the latest exhibition at the Top Of The Torrens Art Gallery in Birdwood, featuring the works of the Modbury based Off The Couch Art Group.

In opening the exhibition Francine Everingham paid tribute to her late husband Peter, who had been a member of the group. She also spoke of the general and mental health benefits of being involved in artistic endeavours.

"Creating Art increases brain activity, can relieve stress and encourage positive, creative thinking," she said. "Then there is Viewing Art, which is also known to increase empathy, tolerance and a feeling of wellbeing". She went on to point out that the real plus of course is that anyone can do either or both of these endeavours.

United in their support and encouragement of each other, Off The Couch members range from beginners, through hobbyists to professional artists, and describe their spectrum of artistic interests and styles as eclectic.

Members say "Making our mark, individually and collectively, we are passionate about creative expression, with a commitment to promoting visual arts in the community".

Pencil, pastel, watercolour, charcoal, pen and ink, acrylic, oil, pottery, mosaics and printing (linocut and woodblock), are amongst the many mediums currently used.

The group are particularly excited about their recent acquisition of an Enjay Printing Press, which was acquired earlier in the year with the assistance of a community grant from Tea Tree Gully Council coupled together with some major fundraising by the groups' members.

Kay Paterson and Max Stayner were on hand at the Top of The Torrens exhibition opening to demonstrate the processes involved in cutting and printing from a lino block.

The exhibition is open 11am to 4pm Wednesday to Sunday, and continues through until 14th October.

RSL news

The RSL held their annual AGM and social night on Sunday, which was very well attended (we need more chairs!), and we congratulated Mike Williams (President), Dan Delaney (Vice President & Social Media), and Merry Schaeffer (Social Officer). Don Barrett remains Public Officer. Tim, Kim, Dennis, Graham, Peter and Don are on the committee to assist with events. Liv Anderson was appointed Secretary at the meeting after.

The night was bittersweet as we had to say thank you and goodbye to Marie Birch, who has been our Secretary for nine years. Marie and Wally are stalwarts of the RSL, with Wally serving as President for quite a few years also, and they will be sorely missed. They will still be a part of the branch, but as they are pursuing some personal dreams, we won't see them as often. We wish them well.

The Palmer Country Market is on Sunday 21st October, at Collier Park, Palmer. The CFS is having their open day and having a BBQ with demonstrations on the oval and we are right in the middle of it all. I have attached the logo if you want to use it and this market will be our third market held in Palmer. The car boot sale will be changed to a Trash 'n Treasure Market to be held at the same time and place as our usual Palmer Country Market.

We have just opened a SOFT-SERVE shop in Palmer. We're selling softserve icecream on the weekends, and a limited number of softserves will be available during the week. Single cones $2.50, double cones $3.50 and Nut sundaes in Strawberry or Chocolate are $4.50. We also have drinks, fruit boxes and of course, water. Any shop owner wanting to give Softserve icecreams as a promotion to their customers are encouraged to give me a call on 85694008 (this number is also for booking a Market stall).
